

WASHINGTON, D. C., SUNDAY, JANUARY 14, 1912.

Society

WILL BE BRIDE AT HOME WEDDING.

THE social pendulum is swinging faster each week, as the season advances. There are but five weeks in which society will disport itself with dancing and dining, and much must be crowded into these short weeks before Ash Wednesday draws the curtain, and sackcloth and ashes will be assumed. An army of New York and Boston millionaires has invaded Washington, and its presence is being felt. Never before have there been such exhibitions of rich clothes and rare gems as have been displayed at the last few evening receptions in the White House.

The President and Mrs. Taft continue the great success inaugurated on New Year's Day, when their morning reception, notwithstanding the notable absences in the diplomatic circle, proved to be one of the largest and most interesting in White House history. The shortage in ambassadors was compensated for in the splendid attendance of army and navy officers.

The first evening reception last Tuesday was even more brilliant than that of New Year's Day. While in honor of the diplomatic corps, this great international company constituted less than one-fifth the number of guests. Twelve hundred invitations is the limit now placed for evening receptions, as against 2,500 of former times. For the smaller number there is naturally a more personal welcome and a greater degree of comfort, not to mention the well-served buffet supper and the dance in the East Room with which each of the four receptions ends.

The presence of the United States Ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid has, as usual, been the occasion of much entertaining. In addition to the President and Mrs. Taft, their hosts have been the Secretary of State and Mrs. Knox, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Navy and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boardman, the former a lifelong friend of the Ambassador, the British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce, Mrs. Richard Townsend, Mrs. Leiter, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond. The large reception on January 11, to which Mr. and Mrs. Hammond invited smart society to meet Mr. and Mrs. Reid, was second only to the White House reception of Tuesday evening in importance and interest.

This week will be an important one for weddings, Thursday being especially interesting as the wedding day of Mrs. Oliver Cromwell and Mr. Edward P. Stotesbury. While this is one of the most interesting and important weddings of all the many notable ones taking place in Washington, it will also be one of the most simple and unostentatious. The company will include only the children of the bride and bridegroom and the latter's partners and their wives. The bride will depart from the usual custom of wearing gray or lavender at her second wedding, and will wear white, but everything pertaining to the costume and the arrangements will be carried out with the greatest simplicity and elegance. Mr. Stotesbury will take his bride South for a short trip, after which they will take up their residence in his Philadelphia home.

Thursday will be the wedding day also of Miss Zelma Platon and Knut Robert Folioe Guller, Jr., U. S. N. The ceremony is to take place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Benjamin F. Platon, with only the immediate relatives present. The bride-elect is the second daughter of the late B. F. Platon, whose death occurred last summer. Like her elder sister, Mrs. Charles A. Wood, she is a very handsome girl of unusual type, with particularly fair skin and dark hair. Mr. Guller is attached to the U. S. S. Mississippi, now at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

There are two younger girls in this family of handsome daughters to be presented in the near future, the Misses Margaret and Olga Platon, having the
